

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. THE GROVER & BAKER MACHINES

Have taken the FIRST PREMIUM at the late STATE FAIRS held in

NEW YORK,
NEW JERSEY,
OHIO,
INDIANA,
PENNSYLVANIA,

MICHIGAN,
IOWA,
MISSOURI,
KENTUCKY,

TENNESSEE,
VIRGINIA,
NORTH CAROLINA,
ALABAMA,
CALIFORNIA.

Including every State Fair where exhibited in 1862.

 The work made upon the Grover & Baker Machines has taken the First Premium at every Fair in the United States where it has been exhibited.

Why the Grover & Baker Machine is best :

1. It is more simple, durable, and less liable to derangement than others.
2. It sews from ordinary spools, and no re-winding of thread is necessary.
3. It sews with equal facility all fabrics, the most delicate and the heaviest, and with all kinds of thread, silk, cotton or linen.
4. Its seam is so strong and elastic that it never breaks, even on the bias.
5. It fastens BOTH ends of the seam by its OWN OPERATION.
6. Its seam, though cut at every sixth stitch, remains firm, and neither RUNS nor RAVELS in wear.
7. Its seam is more plump and beautiful, and RETAINS its plumpness and beauty after washing better than any other.
8. Its seam can be removed in altering garments, AFTER PROPER INSTRUCTION, without picking or cutting them.
9. Watching and varying the tensions upon the threads necessary in other machines is unnecessary in this. The tension being once adjusted on the Grover & Baker Machine, any amount of sewing may be done without change.
10. It makes beautiful embroidery without any change of arrangement, simply by inserting threads of suitable sizes and colors for this purpose. It is the ONLY machine that BOTH embroiders and sews perfectly.

Machines furnished of the same patterns and at the same price, making either the Grover & Baker Stitch or the Shuttle Stitch, as customers prefer.

GROVER & BAKER'S

CELEBRATED

PREMIUM SEWING MACHINES

Experience proves there are only two valuable Sewing Machine Stitches :

The Grover & Baker Stitch

AND

The Shuttle Stitch.

Samples of both these stitches in various fabrics, with full explanations, diagrams and illustrations, to enable purchasers to examine, test, and compare their relative merits, will be furnished to all on request, from our offices throughout the country.

Those who desire machines which do the best work, should not fail to test and compare these stitches for themselves.

Grover & Baker's Sewing Machine Cotton is the best in the market. It is made by E. Ashworth & Sons, the best European manufacturers, expressly for Grover & Baker S. M. Co. In consequence of extensive and timely arrangements with these manufacturers, we can sell this superior cotton on spools of 200 or 500 yards 10 per cent. below the prices of other leading manufacturers.

Grover & Baker's Machine Twist, now recognized as the best in the market, furnished in any quantities desired.

CORDERS, BINDERS, BRAIDERS, QUILTING GAUGES, and all the latest improvements furnished at the lowest cash prices.

PREFACE.

THE Compiler again makes his annual announcement to his fellow citizens. Since our last publication, the City of Buffalo has enjoyed a season of unexampled prosperity, of which our Directory is, in a measure, a very graphic type. The careful observer will notice that we publish this year over two thousand more names than last, and this, according to the ordinary mode of computation, would indicate an accession to our population during the past year of at least ten thousand persons! The Directory for 1861 contained about 18,200 names; in 1862 we published about 21,800, and the present year the total number is nearly 24,000 names. By the usual mode of computation, this would give Buffalo a population of about one hundred and eight thousand, a number which we think a careful canvass of the city would show to be rather an under estimate than otherwise.

We give to the public the present year the interesting paper of GUY H. SALISBURY, Esq., on "Buffalo, Past and Present;" the valuable tables on the "Climatology of Buffalo," by WM. IVES, Esq.; and the interesting statistics of the "Trade and Commerce of Buffalo," by E. H. WALKER, Esq. These, with the usual Miscellaneous and Statistical matters prepared for our Directory, make up a volume useful to our citizens, and we believe not inferior to any of its predecessors. Of the manner of its "getting up," we have the proud satisfaction of hearing the universal testimony from North, South, East and West, "that the Buffalo City Directory for 1862 was the best got up work of the kind in the United States."

We have no doubt shortcomings will be discovered—that errors and omissions will be found—this is the lot of a directory publisher. We believe, however, that fewer mistakes or omissions will be discovered the present year than ever before. The publication of a Directory is rather a thankless task at best, and, as the experience of the subscriber has shown, is anything but remunerative, considering the amount of labor required. However, it will be his aim, from year to year, so to improve its character as to merit a continuance and increase of patronage. It will be noted that the price of the Directory this year has been advanced to Two Dollars and Fifty Cents. This increase, although fully warranted by the general increase in materials, labor, &c., is no more than has been charged in Detroit, Chicago, and other Western cities, for years past, while our charges for advertising are nearly fifty per cent. less than in those cities.

BUFFALO IN 1836 AND 1862:

A PAPER

READ BEFORE THE BUFFALO HISTORICAL SOCIETY, FEBRUARY 6, 1863.

BY GUY H. SALISBURY.

WHAT a wonderful creation of human thought, and energy, and toil, is a City like this — with its ten thousand houses, and its hundred thousand people! How much of venturous enterprise, of patient labor, of daily thrift, of self-denial, of stern sense of life's real duties, have gone to lay its foundations, and build up its greatness! Its many spires pointing to Heaven, like aspirations of the soul, tell of the deep underlying Christian character that has given concrete expression of its hope and its belief, in these manifestations of the liberal hand, these evidences of devotional faith. Its great manufactories of every kind, those other altars — altars of Labor — the smoke of whose murky incense goes up to the skies, tell of the toiling masses whose rude, rough hands are building ever, some structure or some fabric, that makes us love and bless those workers. Ah! what pictures of varied life its daily scenes must show, with their terrible contrasts of Joy and Sorrow, of glorious Intellect and Brutal Ignorance, of angel Goodness and demon Crime, of princely Wealth, and squalid Poverty!

This City of Buffalo has grown to such Metropolitan position, before the eyes of some of us, from a small village of a few scattered houses, and the families of which you could almost count upon your fingers. In its eventful progress, from the wilderness state in which it existed, at the date when it was first laid out by the Holland Land Company, it has passed through various phases, or epochs, that have greatly influenced its present condition. Its normal aspect was the dense, wild forest, with undulations of hill and dale, and running brooks threading their bright, silvery lines through tangled thickets and marshy margins, while Erie's blue billows flashed back the sunlight into the dim shades of the gloomy woods. The painted savage stalked grimly along his war-path, and the hungry panther stole with wary step, where now your children play! But half a dozen straggling huts — those of Middaugh and his earlier neighbors — sent up their wreathing smokes, to tell that the rude germ of Civilization had been planted in that primeval Wilderness!

That was the opening phase of Buffalo!

Then, in 1801, Joseph Ellicott sat at his office desk, tracing with sagacious hand, the outlines of an Infant City, with mathematical streets, and squares, and docks for shipping. His prophetic eye, with singular clearness, then discerned the future importance of Buffalo. Riding on horseback, in 1802, with Mrs. Brisbane, among the bushes and brambles that then covered the present site of the American Hotel, he remarked to her, "This will some day be a Great City!" That little map he traced, in 1801, opened the drama of Progress, in which our fathers and ourselves, and our children, have been actors, on a busy stage, whose scenes have shifted like the magic wonders of Eastern enchantment.

There were years of quiet, unrecorded Village life, until, in October, 1811, the growing community required a newspaper to herald the existence of the rising hamlet, and to minister to its intellectual wants, and foster its business interests. That was an interesting social phase in its opening career.

The War of 1812, brought stirring times to the settlers who had here planted their abodes, and on a wild and tragic day, in December, 1813, those humble homes were swept away by the red, cruel flames, lit by the British soldier's torch!

That was the sad phase of Desolation!

In 1815, came the welcome Peace, that stilled the dread alarms of the Camps, and brought industrial activities into play again — the phase of Restoration.

In 1820, the energy and enterprise of Judge Wilkeson, Charles Townsend, George Coit, Dr. Chapin, and other leading citizens, aided by the efforts of nearly all the business men of the Village, carried forward to successful results, the most important project of our harbor, which was the dawning phase of our Commercial life.

In 1821, the ground was first broke, upon the broad flat below the Terrace, for the Western Terminus of the Grand Erie Canal—that giant artery through which has since poured the wealth of half a continent, and made prosperous and mighty the Empire State, while rapidly building up the fortunes of our ambitious Village.

In 1832, Buffalo took her place among the Cities of the land, and from that era, her march has been onward, not, however, without hindering obstacles, until we can now look around upon the evidences of her astonishing progress with pride and hope.

This brief retrospect brings us to the period, when the elements of growth had given such strength to our business position, in 1834 and '5, that Anticipation looked eagerly forward to the coming years, when Buffalo should sit, at the foot of our own blue Mediterranean, like a Commercial Constantinople, stretching along the Bosphorus of the broad Niagara, and holding the keys of a Dardanelles that could open and shut the gates of Trade for the regions East and West.

Then came the phase of Speculative Enterprize, of which I propose to particularly treat, in the paper which I have the honor to read before you this evening. I have once before had occasion to speak upon this subject, and I trust you will pardon me for reproducing a portion of the views then advanced. I do it for the reason, that the strange scenes then enacted, are a part of that Local History which it is the province of this Society to gather up and preserve. And these sketches have the merit, if no other, of being true to the incidents they attempt to record, being written from actual experience, and verified by a cloud of living witnesses.

And now that evidently the tide of Speculation is again heaving its restless waves around us, it is especially pertinent to take our reckoning, and see how we are drifting. Surely a review of those wild times, when to be sane was seeming madness, when to be mad, was common sanity, may not be uninteresting, or un instructive. Some useful lessons may possibly be learned, from such glance at the follies of those days, when folly, like the "motley" of the melancholy Jacques, was our "only wear."

The year 1836, will long be remembered as one of crisis—not only in our own locality, but throughout the Nation. It dawned upon us, radiant with rosy light—with prospects full of glorious promise—it departed, when dark clouds overcast the horizon—that roseate ray deepened into the lurid hue of coming storm. It came, with dazzling visions of wealth, and fond anticipations of the happiness we ever link, with golden chains, to worldly prosperity—it left us, with those gay illusions faded—those budding hopes blasted—those glowing fantasies exchanged for dull realities—those bright plans for the future sadly marred, by the "change that came over the spirit of our dreams." It opened, with universal prosperity apparently covering the land, giving stimulus to every department of trade, of commerce, of manufactures—it closed, with almost as universal bankruptcy spread widely around, carrying disaster to thousands, in every branch of business—in every walk of life—to the high and to the humble.

Those by-gone scenes to which I allude, are within the personal experience of some of us, and it may appear presumptuous and unnecessary, to speak in historic or didactic style, of times not yet remote enough to have escaped our lively recollections, and the consequences of which came home to so many in such practical shape, as to have been long since, in legal parlance, "of record!"

Yet it is well to sometimes chew the bitter cud of Reflection, that we may gather Wisdom to teach us in the Future to shun the errors of the Past.

To seek for positive causes of the universal speculative movement, which began in '34, and reached its acme in '36, were to invoke elements of political contention, with which it is wisest not to seriously intermeddle. Whether it was consequent upon the financial policy of President Jackson, or upon the action of his great antagonist in politics and in policy, the United States Bank; or upon the emulative expansions of that institution and the affiliated Deposit Banks, then filled with the overflowing surplus of the National Treasury, have long been mooted questions, which each one can decide for himself; but there can be little controversy as to the actual results, that became tangible, and were read of all men.

However we may differ as to the political causes which produced the bank inflations, there will probably be few to controvert the opinion, that a redundant currency of paper, not based in any safe proportion upon coin, and issued to a large extent, by irresponsible corporations, had much to do with the extraordinary rise in prices, not only of real estate, but of almost every commodity of use or trade, which was a prominent symptom of the speculative fever of '36. As money depreciates in value, from its abundance, the prices of other things necessarily advance, and this appreciation of property, inducing the belief that it is to be progressive, engenders the passion for speculation, which once let loose, runs riot, until it runs to ruin.

To deny, that as a currency becomes redundant—especially one of paper—the value of money depreciates in proportionate ratio with the increase of the circulating medium, would be to discredit the well known History of the Continental currency, and of the Assignats of Revolutionary France.

Yet, while such a state of things is most commonly to be predicated of excessive issues of Bank paper, we are not without example of like effects, flowing from a superabundance of the precious metals. In limited localities, where gold is plentifully had for the mere digging, prices appreciate in nearly the same ratio, as when paper exclusively forms the currency. When California first tempted adventurers with her glittering treasures, flour at the mines, was sometimes sold as high as $200 a barrel, common shovels at $14, and a box of Seidlitz Powders for $24! And, at the newly discovered gold-fields of New Zealand, ordinary horses now sell for $700, and flour at $75 a barrel. But this depreciation of gold, is comparatively temporary, and confined to the immediate regions of its production, while the depreciation of paper is national in extent, and difficult to be controlled within any assigned limits.

Banks sprang up, in the prolific era of '36, like the mushrooms of a summer's night, and proved as unsubstantial and as perishing. Hosts of desperate speculators, who by that "hocus pocus" best known to skillful financiers, could manage to galvanize such monetary institutions into legal existence, with capital stock all paid in by promissory notes, became suddenly possessed of abundant means, which enabled them to operate on a grand scale. They bought lots and farms, and houses and equipage, careless at what cost, so that they paid in currency of such facile creation.

That prices should remain uninfluenced by this reckless profusion with which money, or its semblance, was so widely scattered, would be simply impossible. "Easy got, easy gone," is one of those old maxims that are as true as they are trite, and applies with peculiar aptness to the large and sudden profits of successful fraud, or lucky speculation.

Assuming, then, that the state of the currency had much to do with the speculative tendencies of '36, we may be asked to account for the anomalous fact, that amid all this abundance of what was called money, the "street rates" of interest were from three to five per cent. a month—as tough shaving as is met with in tight business times, when speculations are the exception and not the rule.

To explain this seeming incongruity, that prices should advance under such ruinous rates of interest,—and that they rapidly did so, is an undisputed fact,—we must bear in mind, that speculations begat usury, and usury, in its turn, begat speculations. The buyers and sellers who were making thousands with magic facility, hesitated not to feed largely the avarice of the money-lender, who supplied the means for their extensive operations, while the latter, seeing the colossal profits realized by others from the use of his funds, thought they could well afford to pay him higher and higher rates—and so the mutual process of reasoning, had the very natural result of coming to the same conclusion.

But while ascribing, in a great degree, the speculative impulses of the period we speak of, to the unwonted issues of bank paper which flooded the country, it is but just to remark, that other influences must have aided the momentum which sent us forward with railroad speed, until the crash came that threw the whole train off the track. There is an eagerness for sudden and easy gain, ever alive in human breasts, and manifesting itself in all ages, in enterprises that promise golden returns, but often prove gilded illusions. This propensity to obtain wealth by some shorter process than that which Adam taught his race, is not altogether dependent for its manifestations on the condition of the circulating medium,—although it may be stimulated to wonderful activity, by the superabundance of money at peculiar periods, when many causes combine to produce feverish action. The Tulip mania, which nearly two centuries ago prevailed in Holland, when single roots of that simple flower, sold for the enormous price of $2,000,—the famous South Sea bubble, which set all England agog, in the beginning of the eighteenth century,—the Cotton speculation of 1825,—the Mulberry fever which raged in this country, in 1838-9-40,—the Railway mania in England and France, of '46-7,—were not dependent upon the condition of the currency, but upon their own supposed procreative power of money-making. The purchaser of the Tulip root, bought it, not for its intrinsic value, but because its multiplied product could be in time disposed of at similar or higher prices. So with the propagators of the Morus Multicaulis, who paid a dollar each for mere slips of a shrub of such easy and rapid increase,—they cared little what was paid for the seed, so that the grain to spring from it was gold in multiplied proportion. But the buyer of South Sea Stock in the eighteenth century, and of lands in 1836, mostly fancied there was intrinsic value in what they held. Some, doubtless, bought to sell, without any confidence in the prices paid, in the belief that, to use a common saying, "the fools were not all dead;" and they kept on in the giddy race, caring little who got the unlucky individuals who might happen to be "hindmost." The purchaser of a lot, if he could manage to raise enough for the payment down, literally obeying the Scriptural injunction, "took no thought for the morrow"—did not trouble himself as to the money to be paid hereafter—for he confidently calculated to soon sell, at a profit, to some one else. And so prices went up, at every transfer, in something like arithmetical progression.

It must have been a curious study for the calm observer, to watch the progress of the speculative mania, and note its effects upon the individuals who came under its influence. At first, when land-sellers displayed their maps, with tempting array of corner or water lots, with prices and terms obligingly laid down for the information of the anxious public, the cautious man would listen to no proposition to purchase land that he did not want, and by which he would incur an indebtedness greater than he could conveniently pay. He calculated the interest, the times of payment, and safely concluded such purchases out of his power. Another, however, with more confidence and less prudence, bought, and in a few days, or weeks, sold out at a handsome advance. His cautious neighbor saw that he had missed a small fortune, by his timidity, and to lose no farther time, blindly bought the next bargain that offered. He, too, effects a sale that nets him at once, perchance, the profits of a whole year's business, and fancies that he has only to repeat the experiment, on a more extensive scale, to make his fortune, with magic rapidity. He becomes a bolder operator—buys large tracts, and maps them into blocks and lots, for which there is no lack of eager customers, and the exciting game goes bravely on, until the re-action comes that arrests these doings in mid career.

What was the spectacle presented in our own community, during the memorable times of which we speak?

The wonderful discovery of Daguerre was then among the unimagined marvels of the Future, and we therefore can have no fac-similes of the inimitable tableaux that were then presented, in private parlors, in public bar-rooms, in places of business, and at the street corners. There were eager merchants, a goodly sprinkling of over smart clerks, — there were lawyers, doctors, editors, with now and then a grave divine to leaven the lump, — there were scores of loitering mechanics, and not a few from the farming neighborhoods, tarrying from their marketing — all occupied in the one great pursuit of getting suddenly rich — out of each other. The topic of conversation was the exhaustless theme of LAND — as if it had been found the “one thing needful,” and the whole community were determined to become Agrarians at once. The passers-by would catch from the animated conversation of each knot of busy talkers, with “speculation in those eyes that they did glare withal,” some such words as “corner lot,” — “running back to an alley,” — “water front,” — “South Channel a sure thing,” — “railroad run by it,” — “note at sixty days for first payment, balance end of ten years,” — “worth double in six months,” — “make out your papers,” &c. &c. They chaffered, they negotiated, they marked out their lots with canes, or umbrellas, or their boot-toes, upon the door-steps or the side-walks —

“ Their dream of life, from morn till night,
Land — land — still land !”

The ladies, too — that is, the spinsters and widows, who could hold property in their own right — were not disposed to let the Lords of Creation be the only Lords of the Soil, and they invested their savings, or the proceeds of homesteads, sold off for the purpose, in making the first payment on purchases, the profits on which were to render the fair holders perfectly marketable for fortune-hunters.

It was all-absorbing, that engrossing desire to catch the golden opportunity, whose swelling tide wafted to wealth. The physician, intent upon some proffered bargain, when asked by his anxious patient, how his medicine was to be taken, answered abstractedly, “one-quarter down, balance three annual instalments.” Mechanics, when their customers wished jobs of work done, said they “had other fish to fry” — were in better business. One of them, whose first name was PAT SMITH, the saddler, when called on to make a harness, replied, “why, man, I do n’t do any more business — I’ve bought a lot !”

Oh ! but they were rare groups — those busy, bustling, sanguine moonshine seekers of ’36, and ’t is pity they could not have been immortalized by a HOGARTH’S inimitable pencil ! As in his celebrated moral pictorial series, entitled “The Rake’s Progress,” might have been depicted the varying fortunes of the actors in that changeful drama. The opening picture might have shown the honest, industrious mechanic, content with gradual gains, and happy in the enjoyment of a comfortable though humble home — alike ignorant of the feverish hopes or fears of him whose fortune is staked upon a cast. He next might have been seen, listening with wondering ears, and excited countenance, his implements of labor lying still the while, to some recital of the sudden luck of a neighbor, who, by one single hit, had made hundreds or thousands, while himself had been earning but a week’s wages. The temptation is too great — he becomes dissatisfied with his trifling gains, and longs for the splendid profits he hears of. His snug shop no longer bounds his wishes — his moderate business has become mean and worthless in his eyes, and he throws aside his implements, determined to try his fortune in the same field. He might next be seen eagerly driving the fraudulent bargain, by which some unsuspecting friend was made a "victim of misplaced confidence" — consorting with sharpers, and brokers, to advance his schemes of money-making. His next appearance might be in the character of a Paper Aristocrat, whose splendid equipage, whose grand mansion, and seeming wealth, attract the admiration, and the envy, of the multitude. He condescends, he patronises, he becomes oracular, his opinions are listened to with deference, his jokes are loudly laughed at, and quoted by the wits about town — and he passes into that class known in fashionable entomology as "big bugs."

But, the last scene in these real sketches, would, in the hands of the Great Master of Caricature, have been instructively drawn. Beggared in fortune, shorn of his honors, and habited in the "shabby-genteel," you find him again at his old business, but not the same contented man as when he left it. His cheerful air has changed to sullen despondency — his once busy hand, that quickly plied his tools of trade, moves listlessly in his now hated task, and if not making a further wreck of himself, by the intemperate draught that promises deceitful solace to his troubles, it is a wonder. His family, fallen from that envied sphere in which so many artificial wants are learned, so many conventional necessities discovered, are pining in chagrin, and disappointed ambition is at their heart's core, rankling like a barbed arrow. This would have been a series of pictures, faithful to the life, here and elsewhere. Ah! such were some of the results, to individuals, of those Speculations of '36!

Lamentable indeed, in this and most other places of any note, from Maine to Mississippi, was it to witness the withdrawal, in '36, from their honest avocations, of tradesmen, and mechanics, and husbandmen, who sought an easier livelihood through the chances of speculation. Many who had for a while resisted all the allurements of the tempting bargains that were going on around them, came at last to the conclusion that their old-fashioned prudence was but foolishness — and they, too, at the eleventh hour, plunged with headlong haste into the arena, to secure the prizes that still awaited the grasp of those who sought them.

The stages, steamboats, and other public conveyances, the hotels, saloons, and all places of general resort, were thronged with land-sellers and land-buyers. They poured westward like an army of locusts, to devour the broad acres of the national domain, in advance of the tide of emigration which was setting with resistless force in that direction. I was at Detroit, for a few days, in July, '36, and witnessed this incredible eagerness to make entries of the public lands, for which the issues of the State Banks were then received by the Government. The Receiver's office was literally beleaguered with applicants, until the sidewalk and street in front of it, had the appearance of the polls at a hotly contested election. Persons intent on locating the same tract, took fleet horses on the spot, and ran Gilpin races to the land office, as if for a sweepstakes. To such a fearful extent did the speculators absorb the public lands, to the injury of the actual settlers, and the serious detriment of the States in which the lands were situated, that in July, President JACKSON issued his famous Specie Circular — requiring specie, alone, in payment — and checked the evil, by precipitating the ruin that was then ultimately inevitable. This missive of the Executive, crashing like a ponderous battle-axe, through the paper helmets of the Rag Barons, swept them down by hundreds, and spread dismay and disaster throughout the land. Its effect was electric. Confidence, that creative agent in human society, was stunned, and reeled, and fell. The vast fabric of credit that had been reared to the very skies, toppled headlong. Fearful were the anathemas denounced against that iron-willed old man, by the bankrupted adventurers who meant to rise winners from the game. The Banks contracted, like Boa Constrictors, around their customers, preparatory to their subsequent suspension of specie payments, and universal panic pervaded the country. We tumbled from the zenith to the nadir — and it was a nine days' fall!

The bubble had burst! Its gigantic proportions, glittering with rainbow dyes, no longer mirrored landscapes of pictured beauty in the golden sunlight, but dissolved into the empty air. The operations were over — the sharps proved flats at last — the sparkle of success had flashed and faded — and all terrestrial things had suddenly become dull, stale and particularly unprofitable.

But, disastrous as was the pecuniary ruin that the receding tide had left behind, there was another consequence not less deplorable — the indifference to moral as well as legal obligations, which resulted from the utter inability to fulfill them. Although there was an incalculable sum of indebtedness, arising from balances due on purchases of real estate, where the debtors had already paid double what the land was worth, and were held on their bonds for perhaps as much more, the repudiation of which involved no bad faith, there was likewise a vast amount of honest and honorable debts, merged in the sweeping insolvency that followed. And when the Bankrupt Law of '42 — that necessary evil — wiped out, at once, the enormous liabilities that pressed like an incubus upon the energies of thousands, there was by far too general a forgetfulness, that the obligations of honesty are more imperative than those of law. The moral tone of communities had been deranged by the excesses of the times, and few, alas! were able to resist the immunity offered alike to fraud and to misfortune. They took the legal Letheon, and all troublesome compunctions were unfelt, or unheeded.

In looking back, from this point of dispassionate observation, upon the influences that operated upon the public, like the "encasing air" we breathe, the wonder is, not that so many fell, but that any stood steadfast. The wisest judgment has not intuitive wisdom, but is formed by constant and careful observation of the acts and experiences of other men. Our estimates of value are based upon the estimates of the community around us. The adage declares

"The true worth of any thing, Is so much money as 't will bring."

— and this is true, of most material things. The shrewdest man buys and sells by the estimates of other people, although he may fancy them greatly modified by his own conclusions. We cannot be entirely independent of the influence which the example and opinions of men have upon those within their circle — their relatives, and friends, and neighbors. We may stubbornly resist it, and imagine we rely solely upon our own sagacity in shaping our ends, but we cannot change our natures. The passions are contagious, and communities are often pervaded by some strong common feeling, that could not have been excited simultaneously in so many separate individual minds. Enthusiasm is eminently of this contagious character, and Enthusiasm is a main element in the propagation of speculative enterprises.

It was indeed difficult to withstand the impulse consequent upon hearing the judgments of men, of known candor and proverbial caution, deliberately pronounced in favor of purchases, at prices we now know to have been wild in the extreme. Listening to such authoritative opinions, and induced to distrust their own views as being "behind the times," careful men who had stood aloof, during the first stages of the excitement, became giddy with gazing at the whirl around them, and joined the jig at last. They threw aside their carefulness as an incumbrance that but clogged their progress to wealth and fancied happiness, and sought to make up for lost time, by being rasher than the rashest. The example of such men, acted upon many who, not having confidence in their own judgments, waited the lead of others, whose superior sagacity they had been accustomed to look up to, and now blindly followed in their wake, thinking that where they led, must be the path of safety and success.

There is, then, great excuse for the errors of individuals, when their misjudgments were sanctioned by the approval of whole communities. In our daily transactions we are now governed by the opinions of perhaps some of the very same men who were so wide of the mark in '36. I know that one citizen, of great respectability, and unblemished integrity, then advised the purchase of land at $125 a foot, that in three years afterwards could not have been sold for $25. I recollect that another, of much experience, and relied on as oracular in such matters, valued unimproved lots at $60 per foot, that were subsequently sold, after twelve years' interest, taxes and assessments had been paid, for $7!

Let us not, then, while we deprecate the madness of the Speculations of '36, too harshly blame the unfortunate men who were touched with the prevalent malady. The hallucination which came over them, was a species of what Mrs. PARTINGTON would term money-mania. It now seems remarkable, that no Commissions of Lunacy were then issued, in behalf of expectant relatives, to restrain the wealthy monomaniacs from making such havoc with estates that properly belonged to their hopeful heirs, and longing legatees. It is astonishing, too, that the plea of Insanity — generally as available in criminal cases, as was Old TONEY WELLER's favorite "alibi" — was not set up to bar recovery upon those crazy contracts, by the enforcement of which, men were stripped of their all. Now-a-days, the bare evidence that a man had paid such prices for property as were then readily given, would be prima-facie evidence of his craziness. But at that time, the difficulty would have been in obtaining a jury out of the "infected district," for that was as wide as the Union itself!

Let us, then, tread lightly as possible on the tender toes of those luckless men, who ruined themselves while ruining others. In their haste to get rich, they fell into a snare. Yet, methinks, the loss of hard-earned property, the business relations of years deranged or broken up; the shattered credit; the dependence upon precarious means of livelihood; the spurns and buffets of the world, were punishment enough for errors as venial as those chargeable to the Speculators of '36.

Not that this should in any way excuse the frauds that were so deplorably common in those operations. Those are without the palliation, that may be allowed to mere rashness. Deliberate fraud is the offspring of moral turpitude, and cannot be justified because it was the fashion. The obligations of honesty and fair dealing were as binding then as ever, but they seemed to have been greatly weakened by the influences which were abroad. Misrepresentation and falsehood were resorted to in numberless instances, to swindle innocent purchasers, until many of the extensive operators obtained the significant and deserved cognomen of "land-sharks," and "land-pirates."

The most singular feature of the speculative mania, was the blindness that seemed to have come over the common sagacity of men, who in the ordinary affairs of life, had sense enough to look to their own interests. They purchased land of persons whose responsibility was often unknown, without knowledge of the goodness of title, or protection against prior incumbrances. Men of straw bought blocks on credit, giving mortgages for the purchase money, and then sold them out in lots, with no provision for releases from the lien which covered the whole. Many of those lots, too, were bought or taken as security for debts, by men of substantial property, who assumed the fulfillment of the obligations given for them, and went on paying three times as much as the land was worth, for lots to which there was no reliable title. Farms were bought far beyond the city limits, mapped out with "Squares" and "Places," and the lots sold in New York, and elsewhere, to capitalists, and business men, as desirable locations for fashionable residences. Persons who had sold lots in the early stages of the excitement, bought them back, in a few weeks, or months, paying the holders a large bonus to relinquish their bargains.

Adventurers, who could manage to get a few gold pieces to display in their office windows, boldly set up brokers' shops, or which are now styled "banking offices," and unblushingly charged from one and a-half to two and a-half per cent. a month, for their mere endorsements of the promissory notes of individual "operators," when, by no process known to modern science, could even a "trace" of the precious metals have been found, had they been subjected, with all their effects, to destructive distillation! Fatuity had taken place of Reason. Instinct, even, was gone — for that impels to self-preservation — unless it be that of the silly moth, who rushes into the gaudy flame that dazzles and devours her.

A very curious illustration of the recklessness produced by the wonderful success of some of the operators, who fancied their luck would turn everything they touched to gold, was the buying out of individuals by the lump, without inventory or estimate, which was gone into, in a few instances. "I'll give you $150,000 for all your property, except your wife and babies, and household furniture," would be the bantering proposition over a bottle of champagne. "Done," says the other, and the bargain was made. The buyer took possession of the lands, tenements, mortgages, notes, book accounts, choses in action, &c., &c., and paid over the small amount of cash agreed on for the down payment, giving mortgage security on the property, for the balance. It had become tedious to purchase in parcels, and nothing but big figures would answer for big buyers.

The sad sequel to the career of that wholesale purchaser in the transaction above referred to, remains to be told. I met him, day before yesterday, on his way to the Poor-House, with a certificate in his hand from the Overseer of the Poor, entitling him to the shelter of that last refuge of the unfortunate! Yet he figured, in '36, as worth three-quarters of a million; and so extensive were his transactions, that he kept a branch office on Broadway, in New York, for his business in that city, furnished with all the luxury of mahogany and Brussels, and a splendid piano for the musical tastes of his "hosts of friends." It should not be forgotten, that in the affluent season of his prosperity, he supported, for five years, a free school for orphan boys and girls, of whom twelve from each of the five wards of the city, had thus the privilege of a good education, and were furnished with books and stationery without charge. How striking an illustration of the mutability of human things is thus afforded us, and we may well add, "T is true, 't is pity, and pity 't is 't is true."

It is impossible to make even an approximate estimate of the aggregate amount of speculative purchases then made in this city alone, as but a portion of the conveyances were by deed, and placed upon record. A vast number of articles, or contracts, were issued, and transferred from purchaser to purchaser — the number and amount of which transactions cannot be known. But, so far as the records show, there were some twelve thousand deeds, mostly for city property, recorded during the period spoken of — being about three thousand more than had been made in the entire county, since its organization, a quarter of a century previous. If we assume that there were as many transfers by contract as by deed, and the estimate would be below the mark — we have an aggregate number of conveyances reaching to nearly twenty-five thousand. The entire amount of these purchases could have been little less than $25,000,000. Several of the single purchases amounted to $100,000, and even $200,000.

The enormous demand for money which these immense operations created, was still insufficient to stagger prices, in that unnatural condition of things, and men bought and built as if reckoning day would never come. The buildings erected in this city, during '35 and '36, were estimated at the time, to have cost $2,830,000. Some of them were palace-like mansions, costing from $20,000 to $30,000, exclusive of their extensive and valuable grounds. In vain did the sensible admonition of good old Dr. WATTS, "build not your house too high," preach prudence to the confident builders, who went swimmingly on, rearing those castles of folly. They yet stand, in imposing magnificence, yet seldom inhabited by those who built them. They were haunted by spectres of The Elephant — ghosts that their luckless proprietors could easier raise than lay, and they fled from the disturbing visions, to humbler and more peaceful homes.

That era of '36 was the Carnival of the Usurers — those "Knights of the Golden Fleece." "Wheresoever the carcase is, there will the eagles be gathered together" — and they resembled that king of the feathered tribes in certainly one characteristic — they were birds of prey. They flocked hither from afar, greedy for gain, and swooped for the golden harvest that waved before them. In the regular broker shops, enormous amounts of promissory notes were shaved as with a jack-plane, at such rates, that on "long paper" thus converted, there was about as proportionate an amount going to the hapless holder, as was realised by the farmer, whose corn was so carefully tolled by the thrifty miller, that it was hard to tell which was the toll and which the grist. Beside these wholesale dealers, there was an army of "street-brokers," who made a petty capital of a few hundred dollars support them, without any other labor than that of "shinning" for cash and customers.

The effect of thus diverting the money capital needed for regular business purposes, was, of course, injurious in the last degree, to the merchant and the mechanic. They could ill afford to raise money in competition with speculators, whose notes mainly represented large profits. But, in the winding up of those financial operations which promised such easy fortunes to the rapacity of the money-dealers, many of those enterprising citizens, came to a realizing sense of the predicament of those spoken of in the old proverb, who "went out to shear and came home shorn." The borrowers had mostly become bankrupt. There was extensive repudiation, too, among the solvent debtors, of paper, that, although usurious, had been regularly taken up, or renewed, as long as the bubbles of profit were floating above us and eager pursuers after them — paper that proved then as valueless as the idle air.

When the delusion could delude no longer, and men all unwillingly were brought to their senses, as insane patients are made to have lucid intervals by the cold shower-bath, then followed the revulsion that inevitably succeeds high-wrought excitement, and the depression was a perfect cavity. The aeronaut whose upward flight is checked by the collapsing of his gas-filled balloon, is not more suddenly brought to mother Earth, than were the speculators hurled from those giddy heights, where they were busily building castles in dreamy cloud-land. "They went up like a rocket, and came down like the stick."

Then revelled the Legal Profession. Then came grists to their mills, that were ground by the upper and nether millstones, of which the luckless customers got the "bran and shorts." Then the Sheriffs, and the Masters in Chancery, became the great conveyancers of the landed interest, and a busy trade they drove. The newspaper publishers, likewise, looked upon the solid columns of legal notices that crowded their sheets, as a special dispensation of Providence. In short, as it is truly "an ill wind that blows nobody any good," there were a few classes who were pecuniarily advantaged by the attendant consequences of the speculations.

But, that the large property owners who held extensive tracts, before the fever developed itself, which they sold off at great prices during the excitement, were very materially benefited, was by no means the case, except in a few individual instances. True, they made sales at large prices, of much real estate, but mostly for small payments in hand, taking bonds and mortgages for the balance, as was the prevalent custom. Before the subsequent instalments became due, prices were all down, and the purchasers, mostly declining farther payments, let the lots go back to the original proprietors, saddled with the heavy cost of foreclosure, often equalling or exceeding the amount received on the sale of the land. But, granting them to have even realized large amounts on their sales, they, too, did not escape the universal mania, and reinvested their money in other localities — often in distant paper cities, which they hoped to build up to great Emporiums, or in the purchase of vast tracts of wild land in the Western States, which their fertile imaginations saw doubling, trebling, and quadrupling, in the not far off prospective. These schemes, the wildest of the wild, were entered into, heart, hand, and purse, by men who, while selling out as rapidly as possible their Buffalo lots at Buffalo prices, were too shrewd and too cautious to buy other property here. They preferred going abroad to exercise their keen discrimination, and cool judgment, in selecting locations which would inevitably grow into future Buffaloes, and pile up for them new fortunes in each spot of promise. They poured out, without stint or hesitancy, their spare Cash, and mortgaged their Credit, at such places as Irving, Dunkirk, Van Buren, Erie, Ohio City, Manhattan, Green Bay, Manitowoc, New Buffalo, &c., &c., &c., — to say nothing of Black Rock, whose whole territory, nearly, was swallowed up by a gigantic stock company of Buffalonians, who made a clear million or two of dollars — by paper estimate. As a sample of these enterprises — to give the history of them all, would swell this paper to a volume — take that of the sometime port of Van Buren, somewhere near Dunkirk. A tract was there purchased, of three hundred acres, at $25 an acre, which was converted into stock — seventy-five shares, at $100 each. Operations were commenced on a large scale — the speculators went ahead, and being “fast men,” soon ran the shares up to $3,000 each — thus swelling the original value of $7,500 to $225,000! It is unnecessary to add, that the collapse which soon followed that high fever, was a very cold stage, and nearly fatal to the patients of sanguine or choleric temperaments.

Nearly all of the investments thus made abroad, by those who had been lucky enough to sell out at home, proved even more visionary than were the purchases so recklessly going on here, in which they knew too much to participate. Without real importance of position, the forced growth of the paper cities stopped with the short-lived stimulus imparted by the expenditure of foreign capital in building their wharves, warehouses, hotels, stores, &c., and like punctured bladders, they subsided into remarkable repose. Each sign-board over their deserted inns, and silent shops, and empty storehouses, were like epitaphs, over buried hopes that have no resurrection. The plow again went over the lots and through the streets that had been mapped out so alluringly, with squares named after the princely proprietors, and the harvest of golden grain once more waved where that of golden gain was sowed in promise, yet blasted ere it was ready for the reapers.

Thus, like the fabled apples of the Dead Sea, fair to look on, yet turning to ashes on the lips, were the fruits of even the successful operations. The cash was scarcely in possession ere it vanished, in one way or another. Those who, too wise or too timid to make new purchases when they had themselves sold out, were either tempted to loan their money upon promissory paper, that proved to be purely promissory, or to endorse grievously for their friends, relatives, and neighbors; of which innocent indiscretions they were generally reminded by the Notary, and for which they could only receive absolution from the Attorney or the Sheriff. Others who escaped those ordeals which environed the wealthy, built them fine town houses, or grand country seats, that soon proved a little too large for their diminished fortunes, and were sold, after a brief experiment of nabob life, for about a quarter of their cost, or, if retained, involved their proprietors in pecuniary embarrassments, from which the struggles of years were necessary to extricate them.

Thus evenly were the accounts balanced, among the traffickers on the thronged and busy stage, where the doings of '36 were done. The books of the Universe are kept by double entry, and not an act or purpose, material or mental, but has its debit and its credit. Like the poised beam, one end cannot go up, without the other comes down. There must be an equivalent in the exchanges of the world, or the deficiency is made up somewhere, before we get through with the account. That measure which we mete out to others, shall, in some shape, be assuredly measured to us again.

Are we here asked, did no good grow out of all this evil? were there no enduring benefits realised from that extraordinary enterprise which sought to develop the resources of the country, to extend commerce, to build up manufactures, to bid cities flourish where the wilderness had been? Did not the works of these mistaken men remain, even though themselves were wrecked on the rocks of folly?

There were, indeed, stately edifices built, innumerable stores, warehouses, and mammoth hotels, erected, canals dug, railroads projected, ships and steamboats put afloat, under the impulses of '36, which remained, and were of some after use. But what was gained, by this precocity of growth, this anticipating by half a generation, the wants and prospects of the future? The same efforts, judiciously and reasonably put forth, during a more extended period, would have been vastly more beneficial, and been followed by no revulsion, bringing pecuniary distress and stagnation of business, in its train. The preternatural exertions inspired by artificial stimulants, leave the bodily frame exhausted by the violence of unwonted action, and nothing is gained by the labor performed under such excitement, that is not paid for by the subsequent prostration of the system. So with the results of excessive enterprise. And, so far as labor was withdrawn from its accustomed avocations, and men sought to "live by their wits," instead of their work, there was a great positive loss. The wealth of a country consists in nothing but its labor—that of its living generation, or of the former generations, who have left their surplus earnings behind them in property, or money, which is its representative. If the entire labor of this Nation were to be now suspended for a single year, there would be a total loss of over $2,000,000,000 to the country. And the tendency in '36 to live without work, was rapidly impoverishing the Nation, while individuals were amassing fancied wealth.

With all the recuperative energy which is a characteristic of our people, Buffalo for a long time suffered deeply from the effects of the unnatural stimulation of '36. Notwithstanding the large and substantial increase of trade and population that has since come to us, we have not—so to speak—begun to reach the prices which real estate bore at that time, nearly a generation ago. And we should not aspire to reach them, faster than may be warranted by the gradual progress of a prospering and healthy growth. Let us hope never again to witness any periodic return of such eccentric comets as that which here reached its perihelion in '36.

And if there be anything in the teachings of Experience—that venerable School-mistress—who, although the simple teacher of a very common school, charges such round prices for our tuition—if there be any virtue in the chastisements she has given us to enforce her time-taught lessons, we of that well scourged generation of '36 may hope to escape the repetition of such pranks as were then enacted. True, we have the emphatic declaration of Scripture, that "bray a fool in a mortar, yet will not his foolishness depart from him"—and so far as his tendency to foolish acts and doings is concerned, the saying of SOLOMON is unquestionably wise. There are many men in this world who are ever on the chase of wild geese, and cannot be allured to seek tamer and surer game. But that some particular foolishness can be successfully brayed out of men by the pestle of Adversity, can be demonstrated by experiences not far removed from us. Those who ran the gauntlet of '36 and '37, are not the men to enter for another heat. They don't want to be brayed in the same mortar. The most of them avoid the allurements of speculation as they would the terrors of hydrophobia. There may be some old stagers, ever ready for a fresh start, but though, in sporting phrase, they may not have altogether lost their wind, will find a "plentiful lack" of bottom and of backers.

While thus attempting the recital of those errors of past years, I would not seek to depreciate the policy or profit of judicious investments in real estate, in this city or elsewhere. They furnish a sound and safe employment for surplus capital. But they should be discriminately made, with reference to the future repayment of money invested, with simple interest, after defraying taxes, assessments, and contingencies. Nor in any event, should purchases of real estate be made to the detriment of regular business. It should never be overlooked or forgotten, that speculations, however they may profit individuals, add nothing to the real value of the property bought and sold, and nothing to the wealth of the community. Capitalists may purchase property for less than it is worth, and make money by afterwards selling it at its real value — and there is nothing fictitious, or purely speculative in such operations.

But, it cannot be denied, that one industrious mechanic, with his hammer, or trowel, or jackplane, does more towards the increase of the town in substantial wealth, than all the mere speculators put together. They are the drones of the hive, from which they manage to get a very disproportionate share of the honey.

There is no doubt that a community stands on the soundest basis, when its householders are all, as nearly as possible, owners of the dwellings in which they live. This is particularly true with respect to the working classes. Their well-being is greatly promoted, by the possession of independent homes, small and humble though they be. The consciousness of owning a freehold, from which the caprice or exactions of a landlord cannot drive them, begets a feeling of self-respect, which goes far towards making them better citizens. Therefore, let every head of a family — and young men who have honest hopes of yet arriving at that useful and honorable position — seek to possess A HOME. Even if purchased mainly upon credit, the payment of the debt is a stimulus to industrious effort, and every dollar paid, is thus put into a domestic Savings Bank, of which the key is in their own hands. Purchased at reasonable prices, there is not only no danger of loss, but almost certain prospect of a better gain than money can give, at even compound interest. Yet such gain is not that wild, hap-hazard speculation, which we have reprobated. It is a fair advance, based upon actual, and not fancied or prospective increase of value.

Let us hope, with our recollection of the bitter experience of the past, to avoid the recurrence of like disasters, now and hereafter. The Speculations of '36 should stand as beacons to warn the rashness of youth, and the avarice of age from similar shipwrecks. The temptation of profit allured many then to embark, with flowing sails, upon the wild wave that was to waft them to the haven of their hopes, while prosperous breezes were around the gay, venturous barques in which their fortunes were. But the darkling tempest slumbered in the unseen distance, and when it swept those smiling waters, where were the gallant prows that had glided over its deceitful surface? They went down into its silent depths, or strewed the shores with wreck and ruin.

We now come to the important practical question, how far are we in danger now, of like results, from similar causes? That the large augmentation of the ordinary volume of our paper circulation, caused by the issues of the Government, added to the suspension of specie payment by all the banks of the country, is materially affecting prices, is conclusively shown by the sensitive barometer of the Stock Market. The advance in most description of securities there negotiated, has been absolutely enormous. While they are first to feel the influence of inflation, there can be no doubt that land will be soon affected in like manner. An unmistakeable indication, is the fact, that after a long period of inactivity, transactions in land have become quite frequent among us, of late, although not at high prices. The tightness of the times for several years past, has hitherto repressed all tendencies to inordinate speculation, and it is well to continue to guard against it.

But the true interests of the city, and of its property holders, require that we should carefully examine the figures, and determine, so far as we can, so vital a matter as the actual position and intrinsic worth of the real estate of Buffalo. We shall find, on such examination, that while the elements of prosperity are ours, in a much larger ratio than in 1836, the prices of land here are still greatly below the standard of that day. Let us take a few comparative statements to aid us in getting at the facts.

In 1836 we had less than 16,000 inhabitants. Now, we may, in round numbers, count 100,000. We had then but a single street paved, for one-fifth of a mile in length — now, we have fifty-two miles of superior pavement, in one hundred and thirty-seven streets, or two hundred and fifty-nine times as much as in '36. Then, we had but one mile of imperfectly constructed sewers, in three streets — now, we have an extensive and connected system of sewerage, of which fifty-two miles have been already built, in the most substantial manner, in one hundred and twenty-four streets, the benefits of which to the public health, cleanliness and comfort, will be incalculable. We had then but the dim lamps of the oyster-cellars to light the steps of benighted Aldermen and drowsy Watchmen — now, we have one of the best Gas Works in the Union, whose castellated edifice is a model of graceful architecture, and which has laid down fifty-five miles of street-mains, furnishing a beautiful light to over 2,100 street-lamps, elevated on tasteful iron columns, whose long lines of flaming cressets are in brilliant contrast with the sombre gloom through which we used to grope our way. Then, we obtained the indispensable element of water from public and private wells, often at inconvenient distances; while, for the extinguishment of fires, we had to depend mainly on reservoirs under the streets, in only the central parts of the city, that were filled by a "Water-Jack" affair, drawn to and from the Canal by a pair of horses. Now, we have the current of the Niagara River flowing in large iron pipes through every section of the city, supplying numerous hydrants, whence our principal Steam Fire Engines have always an exhaustless supply for arresting conflagrations; while in our residences the touch of a child's finger can summon the gushing waters, as easily as could the nymphs of Undine, midst their native streams!

Our harbor was, in '36, of such limited capacity, as to present a seeming barrier to the increase of our commercial business. Now, by an enlarged and liberal system of improvement, we will have, in all, some thirteen miles of water front, for lake and canal craft — enough to answer all the wants of our commerce for an indefinite period. This, too, is exclusive of Black Rock harbor, and the new Commercial Emporium of Tonawanda, which, some years since, neglecting her Mullet Fisheries, had ambitious aspirations to become an infant rival of Buffalo and a Colony of Cleveland. It has been understood that the experiment was not a perfect success.

In 1836 we had but a single railroad running into Buffalo — that from Niagara Falls — of less than twenty miles in length, with no connection whatever with any other road. Now, we have the great New York Central, with its vast freight and passenger depots and enormous business — the New York and Erie, the terminus of whose long line is practically here — the Buffalo and State Line, with its interminable Western connections — the Buffalo, New York and Erie, and the Buffalo and Lake Huron, connecting with the Great Western and Grand Trunk Railways, and altogether with over 2,000 miles of Canadian roads.

And, in the convenience of local travel, within the city limits, the change is great indeed. In '36, we had but four omnibuses, making hourly trips through a part of Main street, and literally a "one-horse railroad," that made occasional trips between the Terrace Market and Black Rock Ferry. Now, we have eleven miles of well-built double-track Street Railways, through our most important avenues, running sixty elegant passenger cars, not surpassed in any city, that make regular trips every five and ten minutes, greatly facilitating the travel and intercourse between the distant sections of the city, rendering a suburban residence a cheap, accessible and desirable home, and adding more to the permanent value of the property thus benefitted, than all the cost of the roads, and their ample equipment.

A new and most important feature in the business of Buffalo, has been entirely built up, since 1836 — the transfer of grain by elevators. The first building of the kind, at any port on these Lakes, was put up at the junction of the Evans Ship Canal with our harbor, by Joseph Dart, in 1843. Its storage capacity was less than 60,000 bushels, and it could transfer but about 15,000 bushels a day. Not a cargo delivered to it the first season, was over 8,000 bushels — being the greatest carrying capacity of any of the grain vessels — while the average of the cargoes was only 2,550 bushels. Now, the average of the cargoes is some 20,000 bushels. The largest boats on the Erie Canal then carried not over 2,000 bushels. Now, they can take 8,000 bushels. This enterprising experiment of Mr. Dart, proved successful, against the predictions of every dockman but Philo Durfee.

We have now, twenty-four immense Elevators, of most solid and substantial character, with a total storage capacity of 5,000,000 bushels, and capable of transferring 2,308,000 bushels per day. Thus, in less than ten days, our elevators could transfer the entire yearly exports of Odessa, the greatest Grain Market of Europe. And, in 1862, our receipts of Flour and Grain, in bushels, amounted to the large aggregate of over 72,000,000 bushels, while the heaviest yearly export of Odessa has not exceeded 21,000,000.

I had intended to compare the present manufacturing interests of Buffalo with those of that earlier period, but this paper has already grown to such a length, that it is only practicable to allude to their extent and importance. Our iron business, alone, is very large. The great manufacturing establishments now in full and active operation, are too numerous to be now particularized; and there has lately been added to this heavy branch of our production, two blast furnaces and a rolling-mill, whose structures and machinery are equal to any in the country, and whose facilities for producing a superior quality of iron in any required quantity, are not surpassed.

A few more figures, and our comparisons are completed. In 1836, the entire receipts of Flour at this port, were 139,178 bbls.; in 1862, we received 2,846,022 bbls. by lake; to which should be added for receipts by Railroad, 660,000 bbls. — making the large total of 3,506,022 bbls. In 1836, the receipts of Wheat, were 304,090 bush.; in 1862, 30,435,831 bush. In 1836, the receipts of Corn, were 204,355 bush.; in 1862, 24,288,627 bush. In 1836, the receipts of Oats, were 28,640 bush.; in 1862, 2,624,932 bush. The Canal Tolls, collected here in 1835, amounted to $106,213; in 1862, to $3,084,081. The shipping belonging to our port in 1836, enumerated but 8,541 tons. In 1862, it had increased to 78,055 tons.

Such figures show a vast difference between the actual business of Buffalo in '35 and '36, and the present time. These, too, are not theoretical estimates, but fixed facts, obtained from authentic and official sources. They indicate, unmistakably, the rapid, but steady progress which Buffalo has made in the past, and furnish the data from which to calculate her onward advance.

Now, with all this immense addition to our population, our commerce, our general business, and the vast increase in the resources of that great Western Empire, whose outlet and whose inlet are here — while thousands of miles of railroads, and canal and steamboat navigation, have in the interim been added to the wide extended avenues through which our mart is reached — while the wondrous Magnetic Telegraph, by its mystic powers has put us in instant connection with all the important points from the Atlantic to the Mississippi,—what is the position, at this time, of that large property interest represented by the real estate of the city? Are we in any danger of soon reaching the prices of '36, even with this immense increase of our elements of prosperity? Let us see:

From a Land Register which was kept in '36, I have taken the then ruling prices of fifty unimproved lots on thirty-seven streets in different sections of this city, and carefully compared them with those which the same property would bear now, and find that, tried by this test, our prices at this time are, by average, less than ONE-HALF as high as they were in '36 — the disparity being greatest in locations farthest removed from the business portions.

Certainly the speculative movement has made but little headway here, and we have as yet no false values to recede from.

A few instances of those prices of '36, will suffice to show their visionary character. The wildest of all were outside the old city limits, but I have no time to go beyond its then borders for samples. Within its limits, the advance made upon lands purchased by the quantity, was most incredible. I knew one tract, bought at the rate of $2 a foot, or about $500 an acre, in the early part of '35, sold and resold in parcels, until some of the sales made within a twelve month afterwards, were at the rate of $40 a foot, or $10,000 an acre! And these last buyers purchased not for occupancy, but to get a still farther advance of the next customers! The same land is now worth $18 per foot.

As the tendency of disastrous reactions is to go as far below the ordinary level of a natural state of things, as the feverish condition had risen above it, we reached in '41 and '42, the lowest point of which the sliding scale was susceptible. Lands were then a drug in the market, and could hardly be disposed of at any price. Sales were actually made, mostly of outer lots, however, at from one-tenth to one-twentieth of the price they bore in '36—that is, lots which had sold as high as $35 and $40 a foot, were then purchased for $1.75 to $2 a foot! Their present worth would be say $16 per foot—showing a considerable but healthy increase. But enough of detail.

It is touching, almost, to dwell upon the generous, trusting confidence which the Speculators of '36 manifested. Nothing was too impossible for them to believe in, or to promise. Those who doubted, were literally damned, and stigmatized as “croakers,” and no true friends to Buffalo and its interests. They prophesied, those Speculators, like the inspired Pythoness, of the Future, and casting aside the things that were behind, pressed forward for those which were before. They gave all the evidence which men could give, of their sincerity, and their earnestness, for they backed up their belief by buying. They built, on paper, the splendid PERRY monument, of white American marble, one hundred feet high, (which you can't see) in front of the churches. They in like visionary manner, erected the noble College edifice, on North street, for the University of Western New York, which was so magnificently endowed (by subscription) with Professorships that rivalled the princely largesses of the LAWRENCES and the APPLETONS. They gazed with pride and satisfaction upon the massive foundations which RATHBUN had commenced of that stupendous EXCHANGE, whose lofty dome was to tower two hundred and twenty feet above the pavement on the Clarendon square. Their fond error was, that they lived a generation too soon! Like many of the Philosophers and Reformers of the World, they were in advance of their age—or, in other words, “decidedly ahead of their time!” Were they all wrong in their enthusiastic estimate of what we shall yet be? No—no—it was only, after all, a question of time. Their day dreams of '36 shall yet become realities—but it will be after this.

Still may we believe, as they did, in the “Manifest Destiny” of Buffalo. We have seen her struggling onward in other and earlier years, through many doubtful days, without the prestige or the promise of that success, which has since triumphantly crowned her the “Queen City of the Lakes.” We may trust that now her foundations are broadly and deeply laid, on the rock of a real and enduring prosperity—not a prosperity like that of the cities of the Old World, in barbaric ages, when Alexandria, and Tyre, and Carthage, were but the entrepots where rude nations brought their products, the spontaneous yield of the earth or forest, or fabrics wrought by the isolated fragmental labors of a myriad-handed people, thus garnered together in a few great marts, in splendid profusion. The wealth acquired on the theatre of those exchanges soon vanished, and the sands of the desert swept through the marble halls of its possessors. Their busy streets were left desolate, and the cries of savage beasts and ravenous birds were alone heard in their forgotten solitudes. They had not the elements of duration in the character of their people, and their false glories faded under the wasting hand of Time. The useful arts—the intelligent discharge of social and political duties—the cultivation of the minds, morals and manners of the masses of their citizens—formed no part of their actual history.

We hope to see here a Metropolis arise, whose greatness shall rest not on such foundations, and shall have no such ephemeral being and mournful fate. Let us, while this young city is expanding for that Future whose mystic developments are all unknown to us, seek to give right direction to its mental and moral energies, as well as to accelerate its growth in population, in wealth, and in power.

Let us determine that it shall be second to none other in the ennobling characteristics that make a community truly great, and prosperous, and happy. Let us foster those Colleges for the People, the Free Schools of the City, and extend their benefits to the utmost verge of possibility. Far safer bulwarks are they to the welfare of the body politic, than battle-ships or bayonets — far nobler ornaments are they than lofty shafts of polished marble — far more useful than massive prisons or frightful gibbets. Let us encourage our seminaries of learning, where the higher grades of education are attained, and the elegancies and adornments of social life particularly cultivated. Let us build up such institutions as our own, that gathers and preserves our city's history — Art Galleries — Societies of Science, of Literature, and of every name and kind that aim at the amelioration of man's physical and moral condition, and his improvement in the arts and sciences of modern life. Let us extend those general comforts and conveniences that go a great way to make contented and peaceful citizens — multiply or enlarge our public grounds as far as is now practicable — adorn our streets, and squares, and residences, with fountains, and trees, and graceful shrubbery, until taste and beauty shall be esthetic elements around us.

You, and your children, and your children's children, shall build up this beautiful City, year by year, until it shall reach a most eminent position among its sister Cities of the North. Let us inscribe upon our civic flag, the lofty motto of our Empire State, and, in Peace or War, in times of trouble, and in times of prosperity, ever nobly sustain

“That banner with the proud device—
‘EXCELSIOR!’”

CLIMATOLOGY OF BUFFALO.

BY WILLIAM IVES.

Librarian Young Men's Association.

It will be the sole purpose of this paper to indicate, as briefly as possible, what has been done in Buffalo to supply material for the student and others who may become interested in meteorological and agricultural science. To the professional scientist we leave the discussion and investigation of the laws and forces that are called into action to produce the ever-varying meteorological phenomena that hourly present themselves to the myriads of beings that breathe and thrive in the aerial envelope that encloses mother earth.

Daily observations of temperature, wind and clouds were made by Dr. Asa Coltrin, and published in the Buffalo Gazette as early as January, 1812. These were continued with considerable regularity, once a day—at 8 A. M.—through January, February, March, and three times a day—6 A. M., 12 M. and 6 P. M.—through April and May. That this science, and the appliances brought into requisition for its study, and for recording its various phenomena, were but little understood, may be inferred from a four line notice of the “wonderful instrument, the thermometer,” which appeared in the Gazette, January 22, 1812. After recording the frigid fact that the temperature of the 18th was ten degrees below zero, the writers inform the busy villagers that the thermometer from which the observations are made is calculated as follows: 32 is freezing point, 55 temperate, 76 summer heat, 98 blood heat, and 112 fever heat.

No other daily weather record appears in any of the newspapers, until January, 1858, when the Commercial Advertiser commenced publishing the daily observations of temperature and aerial pressure, made by Mr. A. I. Mathews, at his drug store, corner of Main and Swan streets.

These observations were made four times during the twenty-four hours, viz: at 6 A. M., 12 M., 6 P. M. and at midnight, and were continued with great regularity for three years, ending December 14, 1860.

Mr. Albert Hosmer made and recorded observations at Fort Porter, somewhat irregularly, through the years 1851, '52, '53, '54. A copy of his record for the years 1851 and 1853 may be found in the library of the Young Men's Association.

Dr. Sanford B. Hunt made very full observations, with standard instruments, from May, 1854, to February, 1856. His record, particularly upon the hygrometric condition of the atmosphere, is made with great regularity, and will be found of much value, connected as it is with statics of the public health through those cholera seasons. These observations are in tabular form, with accompanying explanations and remarks, in vols. 10 and 11 of the Buffalo Medical Journal. A portion of them have been published by the Smithsonian Institution.

Mr. Elias O. Salisbury recorded partial observations through the years 1854, '55, '56, '57. A copy of his record has recently been published under the joint direction of the Patent Office and the Smithsonian Institution.

Mr. Edward Dorr has made quite complete observations since the spring of 1859, for and under the direction of the Superintendent of Survey of the Northern and Northwestern Lakes. Standard instruments are used; these are supplied by Government. No copy of Mr. Dorr's record is retained in the city.

On the 1st of January, 1860, by direction of the Committee on Natural Sciences of the Young Men's Association, the Librarian commenced recording full observations on the temperature, pressure and humidity of the atmosphere, the force and direction of winds, the amount of cloudiness, the time and violence of storms, the amount in inches of rain and snow, together with notices of periodical phenomena, such as the opening and closing of navigation upon Lake Erie and the Erie Canal, the appearance of early and late frosts, the opening and developement of flowers, foliage, fruits, etc.

The observations by psychrometer, on the moisture of the air, were abandoned after two years. The others have been continued three times a day—at 8 A. M., 2 P. M., and 9 P. M.—without the intermission of a day, down to the present time. Copies of these records have been forwarded monthly to the Patent Office, and have been in part published in the agricultural reports of that office, and in publications of the Smithsonian Institution. Detached and abridged portions have also appeared from time to time in our daily papers.

In the spring of 1860, a series of weekly observations were instituted upon the temperature of the surface water of Buffalo Creek and the Lake. These were carried through the season with as much regularity as the wind and waves would permit, until these waters were closed by ice in December. The points selected for this work were, on the creek at the foot of Main street, and on the lake at a point some forty rods southwest of the light-house, beyond the influence of the water discharged from the creek. The result will be found in one of the annexed tables, and though it may be of but little value, scientifically considered, yet it will not fail to arrest the attention of the watchful meteorologist.

Scattered throughout the bound volumes of Buffalo newspapers, now in the library of the Young Men's Association, reaching from 1811 to the present time, are frequent notices and remarks upon the weather of the seasons, with its effects upon the agricultural and commercial interests of this vicinity. These apparently insignificant weather items are many of them of great value. They have been in part collated, and all will, at no distant day, be brought into convenient form for reference.

The design of the Institution is to afford the best of facilities for obtaining a thorough Business Education.

BUFFALO FEMALE ACADEMY.

This Institution is situated in the most eligible and delightful part of the city, and commands a beautiful view of the city, the river, and the lake. The grounds, consisting of a whole block, fronting on Delaware avenue, and extending to a charming private park in the rear, are tastefully laid out and ornamented with trees and shrubbery.

The buildings, "The Cottage" and "Goodell Hall," combine all that is desirable in arrangement and convenience. The former is built of stone, and is exclusively occupied by the family of the Principal, the young ladies entrusted to his care as boarders, and the teachers of the Institution boarding with the Principal. The latter, "Goodell Hall," has been expressly erected for academic instruction, and for spaciousness and convenience, may well challenge comparison with any similar establishment in the country. It has abundant accommodations for four hundred pupils. Rev. A. T. Chester, Principal.

Board of Trustees—Hon. N. K. Hall, President; Rev. A. T. Chester, D. D., Secretary and Treasurer. Samuel F. Pratt, Dennis Bowen, Noah H. Gardner, Henry W. Rogers, Bronson C. Rumsey, Joseph Dart, Sherman S. Jewett, John R. Lee, Thomas Farnham, Jas. M. Smith, George N. Burwell, Myron P. Bush, Charles E. Clarke, Andrew J. Rich.

Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences.—Organized December 5th, 1861; incorporated January 28th, 1863. The object of this Society is the promotion and study of the Natural Sciences, through the formation of a Museum and Library, the procurement of Lectures, and the use of such other means as shall be found effective. Its primary duties and objects are the collection and preservation of specimens of every vegetable, and of every animated being, (other than man and the domestic animals,) indigenous to Buffalo and its vicinity, and of every rock, fossil, and mineral of the surrounding country; to classify, arrange, and make catalogues of them; to send catalogues of them to its correspondents, and to all lovers of natural science, who may desire them; to observe, record and diffuse a knowledge of all facts illustrative of the nature and habits of such animals and plants; and, so far as it can, to supply the desiderata of its friends and correspondents. By a reciprocation of the services it desires to render others, as well as by such purchases as it may be able to make, and the gifts of our liberal citizens, its collection will soon represent far more than the local natural history; and it hopes and expects that its rooms will be attractive and useful to naturalists, as well as gratifying to the instructed admirers of God's wonderful works. Its rooms are located in the Clarendon block, opposite the churches, up stairs.

The Buffalo Historical Society.—The above Society was organized on the 15th day of April, 1862, and its first election of officers was held on the 20th day of May, 1862. Its general design is to discover, procure and preserve whatever may relate to the History of Western New York, and the City of Buffalo in particular. It will likewise aim to gather statistics of the commerce, manufactures and business of the Lake Region, and those portions of the West that are intimately connected with the interests of Buffalo. For that purpose, it solicits from all persons willing to contribute to the object, donations of books, pamphlets, maps, charts, manuscripts, correspondence, paintings, statuary, files of newspapers, &c., &c., which may have historic importance, or illustrate, in any way, the facts and incidents attendant upon the early settlement and subsequent progress of Western New York and the adjacent regions. Those who are in possession of any of the above described objects of collection desired by the Society, and may not feel willing to donate or permanently part with them, are respectfully invited to deposit the same among the archives of this Society, to be reclaimed at their pleasure. No property thus deposited will be permitted to be taken from the rooms of the Society, unless with the written consent of the owner or depositor. A fire-proof depository has been secured for the use of the Society. An Annual Oration will be delivered before the Society, on the second Tuesday of January in each year; and Addresses from time to time during the year, of which public notice will be given. The monthly meetings of the Society will be held on the first Tuesday of every month.

This Company was organized under the General Gas Light Law of 1848, and the works were completed and gas supplied to the city in November of the same year.

The works are situated on the block bounded by Genesee, Jackson and Fourth streets and the Wilkeson Slip, and comprise about five acres in all occupied by the Company.

The whole construction is of the most substantial character, embracing all modern improvements, and with the extensions and additional machinery added the past season, makes it one of the most complete works in the United States.

The quantity of street mains now laid and in use is about fifty-seven miles, with gasometer room and retort-house facilities for the manufacture and supply of a daily consumption of 500,000 cubic feet.

TRADE AND COMMERCE OF BUFFALO.

For the following interesting tables and statements, we are indebted to the "Annual Statement of the Trade and Commerce of Buffalo," reported for the Buffalo Board of Trade," by E. H. Walker, Commercial Reporter for the Buffalo Morning Express and Buffalo Courier. The figures relating to the Flour and Grain Trade of Buffalo, and of its Commerce, will be found useful for reference.

THE PRODUCE TRADE OF BUFFALO.

Buffalo has for years enjoyed the reputation of being the most important produce market on this Continent west of New York. The territory from which comes the vast grain trade of Buffalo is yearly becoming more extended, keeping pace with the newly created facilities by rail and water, connecting the newly settled lands of the more distant West with the Upper and Lower Lake ports, affording the producer a cheap and expeditious transport for the products to market. The wants of Europe for breadstuffs are being yearly augmented, and the consumption of the Eastern and Middle States keeps pace with the increase in population, and the swelling tide of cereals is flowing through the great artificial river of the State of New York and over the lines of railway connecting the seaboard with the lakes, to supply Foreign and Domestic wants.

The history of the produce trade of Buffalo, which is now of such vast magnitude, dates back but a few years, and is in fact the history of the produce trade of the Great West. Previous to 1839, there was very little, if any, grain received at this port for sale. The grain received prior to this date was mostly purchased by millers from the interior of this State, who made their purchases in Ohio and shipped it to place of destination, but the quantities were insignificant as compared with our present grain trade.

In the fall of 1838, the steamer Great Western brought to this port from Chicago thirty-nine bags of wheat, consigned to a miller in Otsego county, which was the first grain shipment from Lake Michigan ports, and the only shipment made during that year.

In October, 1839, the brig Oceola brought from Chicago, for Durfee & Kingman, then millers at Black Rock, 1,678 bushels of wheat, which was the first grain shipment in bulk from Lake Michigan ports. In 1840, a small schooner called the Gen. Harrison, of about 100 tons burthen, was laden at Chicago with 3,000 bushels of wheat, for Buffalo, which is said to be the first full cargo of grain exported from Lake Michigan. During the same year, the schooner Gazelle brought from Chicago 3,000 bushels of wheat, the brig Erie 2,000 bushels of wheat, and the schooners Major Oliver and Illinois each a small cargo. Such was the beginning of the grain trade of the upper lakes, which has now grown to such vast magnitude. From this period to the opening of the Illinois Canal—1848—the trade was slowly progressive. In the year 1844, Charles Walker, of Chicago, was said to have had at one time five vessels afloat, loaded with wheat, destined for Buffalo, and this was then considered to be of great magnitude, while during the season just passed, it has been no unusual event to have two to two and one half millions of bushels of grain afloat on the lakes, destined for this port, mostly from Lake Michigan. Previous to 1843, the only grain coming from Lake Michigan was wheat, and it was not until 1848 that any corn worthy of notice was received from Illinois, and what little there was brought to Buffalo came from Ohio.

The importance of Buffalo as a grain receiving port will be shown by the following comparative statements of the grain trade of Lake and Tide-water cities with several of the grain ports of Europe:

The grain trade of the great West and Northwest is yet in its infancy. Every year the population is augmented by emigration from the Eastern and Middle States, as well as from Europe. The strong arms of freemen are bringing under cultivation the broad prairies upon which the industrious and enterprising settlers scatter broad cast the seed, to be returned to them again in fields of waving grain, from which will be reaped a bountiful harvest.

BUFFALO GRAIN ELEVATORS.

The grain trade of Buffalo, in the year 1840, was 1,075,888 bushels; in 1841, 1,852,325 bushels; in 1842, 2,015,928 bushels; being in the latter year quadruple the amount of grain received in 1836. The transfer of grain cargoes from vessels into canal boats or into storehouses, was, from 1836 to the end of the year 1842, done entirely by manual labor; the grain being raised from the holds of vessels in bags or tubs, and carried into store or emptied into boats. This method was slow, laborious and expensive, detaining both canal and lake vessels a long time in port, and subjecting the grain, when it went into store, to an expense of nearly ten cents per bushel for receiving, storing and delivering.

In the fall of 1842 and the year 1843, Joseph Dart, Esq., built a small elevating warehouse fifty by one hundred feet, with a storage capacity for about fifty-five thousand bushels of grain, with a transfer capacity of about 15,000 bushels for every twenty-four hours. This enterprise was entered into by the builder against the advice of all our commercial men, with one exception. It was an innovation upon old and long established usages, and worked against the interests of the owners of warehouses. The enterprise was so far crowned with success, that in 1845 an addition was made to the first structure, and the building doubled in size, with a storage capacity for 110,000 bushels of grain, was named the Dart Elevator. A few facts worthy of notice are given from the records of receipts and deliveries of grain cargoes that were kept at the time by Mr. Dart. During the year 1843, the largest vessel cargoes handled at this steam elevator were less than eight thousand bushels, and the average for the year only 2,554 bushels. At this period the canal-boats navigating the Erie canal were only from 60 to 65 tons burthen, and the canal-boat loads of grain did not at any time exceed two thousand bushels, while the average of grain cargoes carried on canal-boats was much less. In 1845 or 1846, the Wadsworth Elevator was built, and very soon after that the Hatch and Hollister Elevators.

The additional facilities created were entirely inadequate for handling the nearly seventeen millions of bushels of grain received here in 1846 and 1847, which, it will be remembered, were years of famine in Ireland. Even as late as 1847, a very considerable portion of the grain received here was handled by the old slow and laborious methods in use previous to the introduction of steam elevators, detaining lake vessels a week or more in unloading, and canal-boats equally as long in loading, subjecting both to largely increased expenses, and the property to vexatious delays in transit to market.

Necessity is the mother of invention. The march of improvement ever onward has brought into use adequate facilities to meet the wants of a large and increasing commerce, that keeps pace with the constantly augmenting population, and the steadily increasing agricultural productions of the great West and Northwest, and at a trifling cost when compared with the great expense to which grain was subjected previous to the introduction of elevators.

We have now in operation and under construction twenty-three grain warehouses, with a storage capacity for five millions of bushels of grain, and a transfer capacity of upwards of two millions of bushels per day. With the present facilities, a fleet of a hundred vessels, each having a cargo of twenty thousand bushels of grain, can be discharged within twenty-four hours after their arrival in port. If the future may be correctly and legitimately judged of by the past, the almost marvelous progress and improvement of the last twenty years will be eclipsed by still more marvelous results during the succeeding twenty years. While the facilities have been augmented, the expenses have been greatly reduced, the charges for transfer now being only one cent per bushel against six or ten cents twenty years ago. Within the last five or six years the rates for transferring grain have been as low as one half of one cent per bushel, and will during the present year undoubtedly not exceed more than a half a cent.

STREET AND AVENUE DIRECTORY

CITY OF BUFFALO.

Entered according to act of Congress, in the year 1862, by E. A. THOMAS, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the United States, for the Northern District of New York.

EXPLANATION.

It will be noticed that in this Street Directory, the names of the streets are set down in alphabetical order, giving the course which they run, according as nearly as possible to the points of the compass, and enumerating all streets which cross the same in the order in which they occur. In all cases where the numbering of our streets has been perfected, the numbers on the right and left hand corners have been given, so that a person wishing to find, say, No. 387 MAIN STREET, on consulting the Street Directory, finds that the right hand corner of Main and Mohawk is No. 379, consequently the place he seeks is only a few doors above. The imperfect numbering of our streets prevents our Directory from being as comprehensive as it might be; still, to the resident or the stranger it will be found to be useful.

Cabinet Hardware and Upholstery Materials for sale to the Trade.

Having largely increased manufacturing facilities, it is my purpose, by a large increase of business, to sell at a reduction on former Low Prices, while the quality of the work will be maintained, as heretofore, unrivaled. Every article sold will therefore be warranted to be properly made, and of good material.

FURNITURE MADE TO ORDER.

Repairing, Boxing and Packing done in the best manner and on the most reasonable terms.

Any one can understand that the CASH SYSTEM does not require large profits to make up losses by bad debts, and those who wish, by paying cash, to obtain a good article and save from 20 to 50 per cent., are respectfully invited to give me a call.

EXPENSES, $252 PER ANNUM.

Address OTIS BISBEE, Principal.

THE POUGHKEEPSIE COLLEGIATE SCHOOL, long favorably known under the management of CHARLES BARTLETT, now conducted by OTIS BISBEE, assisted by an able corps of instructors. The aims of the School are comprehensive, and embrace three distinct courses of study—the Elementary, the English and Commercial, and the Classical. The first is preparatory to the other two. The Principal feels that a young class of pupils is desirable.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Fall Term commences on the Wednesday following the 4th of September, and continues fourteen weeks, followed by a vacation of three weeks.

The Winter Term begins on the Wednesday following the 1st of January, and continues fourteen weeks; a vacation of three weeks follows.

On the first Wednesday of May the Summer Term commences, and continues fourteen weeks.

The following extracts are submitted:

I have been well acquainted with the teachers, and know the high reputation for discipline and instruction of the Poughkeepsie Collegiate School, and take pleasure in commending it as one of the most eligible places for preparing young men for college and business operations, of any with which I am acquainted in the State.
Union College, July 25, 1862.

L. P. HICKOK.

I cordially recommend the Collegiate School at Poughkeepsie, in its present establishment, not only as an excellent school for classical and general instruction, but also as entitled by its management and care of pupils, and oral influence, to the full confidence of all parents and guardians.

GULIAN C. VERPLANCE.

We are acquainted with the management of the Poughkeepsie Collegiate School, and do not hesitate to recommend it as a school of superior merit, and well entitled to the public confidence.

No. 68 MAIN STREET,

And intends carrying on the manufacture of his CELEBRATED HAND LANTERNS on so extensive a scale that he will be able to afford them as cheap as they can be purchased in New York City or elsewhere.

These Lanterns are so constructed that they will burn either lard or coal oil.

Your orders are respectfully solicited.

I refer you to the following gentlemen who have used the UNION RAIL ROAD HAND LANTERN, patented by E. SIRRET, Oct. 24, 1854, who, after a fair trial, take pleasure in recommending them as the best Lantern now in use, on account of the Lamp fastening with the Globe frame, being, strong, convenient and simple.

BENEFITS OF LIFE INSURANCE.

The principles of Life Insurance are now so well established, that they are no longer matters of experiment, and its advantages are beyond dispute.

The great and special advantage is the securing of wife and children against want and misery after the death of the husband and father. Every one acknowledges the wisdom and prudence of providing for a family against the adversities of fortune, or the accidents of life, and it is the moral, social, and religious duty of every one, not to abandon those dependent upon him to the cold charities of the world, and liable to the temptations and sufferings of poverty, when deprived of his protection and support. The late Lord Chancellor of England declared, that "no man with a dependent family is free from reproach if his life is not insured." The man who neglects to insure his house is condemned for imprudence. How much more imprudent is he who refuses to insure his life? Every house may not be burned, but every man must die. Bishop Hawkes wisely declares, that "Life Insurance is not only a humane, but almost a Christian institution," for the Apostle says: "If a man provide not for his own, and especially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel."

This important duty of every head of a family may be easily and securely performed by obtaining a Policy of Life Insurance. A very small daily saving will accomplish this purpose. Five cents a day, commencing at the age of twenty-one, will insure one thousand dollars at death, whether immediate or remote, together with all the profits which may accumulate on the policy; and six cents a day, at twenty-eight years of age, will accomplish the same object. And by the judicious laws of Massachusetts and New York, policies issued for the benefit of widows and orphans are protected from the husband's creditors.

Can it be that any father, husband, or man, is unwilling to make a little sacrifice of daily comforts, in most cases of what would be unnecessary expenses, to protect those most near and dear to him from suffering and want after his death?

There are many other advantageous uses of Life Insurance, besides the security of a family against want. Creditors can insure the lives of their debtors as a security for their claims. A man with incumbrances upon his property may insure to the amount of them to secure their ready payment at his decease. A young man may borrow money to complete his education, or may obtain credit for a stock of goods, or tools, or a farm, by insuring his life and assigning the policy as contingent security. A parish may relieve their clergyman from anxious care by raising a small sum to insure his life and provide for his family. In short, Life Insurance is applicable to all purposes of raising money on loans, where only personal security can be offered; and, generally, as affording means of certain indemnity against any pecuniary loss, claim, or inconvenience whatsoever, to which one individual may become subject, by reason of the death of another.

The moral and social influence of Life Insurance is no slight benefit both to the individual and to the community. It develops the amiable and generous traits of character, accustoms a man to think for others, induces habits of industry, economy and accumulation, and by relieving the mind from anxiety and over-exertion, promotes health and longevity. A systematic adoption of Life Insurance, by the people of any country, would do more to eradicate pauperism and crime than all the combined wisdom of its legislators; so that a well-founded, well-conducted institution of this description is a subject of public interest, as its beneficial effects are at least equal to those of any charitable, philanthropical public institution; and these effects are produced without any donation, sacrifice, or act of beneficence by the public or by individuals, being the natural and easy results of the spontaneous thrift, prudence, and forecast of individuals in conducting their own concerns.

SECURITY OF LIFE INSURANCE.

Life Insurance Companies are the most stable and permanent institutions known among men. The experience of the commercial world can point to no such permanency, nor do any class of institutions compare with Life Companies for uniformity, safety, and reliability. The insured cannot invest their funds in a more sure and profitable manner; for Life Insurance is simply setting aside and investing a yearly sum, with the certainty of a safe return with accumulations; whereas other investments, with a profitable and sure return, are not so easily found, and often end in an entire loss.

An investment in a policy of Life Insurance is far preferable to deposits in a Savings Bank. An Insurance Company accomplishes all that is done by a Savings Bank, and much besides, combining all the advantages of the latter with an indemnity against risks. Like the Savings Bank, it takes care of the depositor's money, and it virtually allows him interest upon his deposits; but it does more. What is of higher importance to the depositor, the Company engages, in consideration of a certain sum of money paid to it annually, during the life of the depositor, to pay a much larger sum to his family upon his decease.

There are three reasons why a Life Insurance policy is a wiser investment than a deposit in a Savings Bank: 1. Money in a Savings Bank, being entirely at the will of depositors, is too easily drawn out to gratify some passing desire, and there is no strong motive to compel a regular deposit. How many persons have commenced an account with a Savings Bank, and continued for some time with a laudable perseverance, but at last have been tempted to withdraw, and never had sufficient confidence to commence again! In Life Institutions, a man, after mature deliberation, binds himself to make a deposit of a specified sum at a specified time; knowing this, he provides for it, and we can safely say that in a majority of cases the money saved to deposit in a Life Institution, would not be saved at all, had they not insured. 2. Money in a Savings Bank is exposed to the demand of creditors, while an Insurance policy is not liable for a man's debt, being held by a special law of the State, as a fund for the benefit of his family; and thus, in times of pecuniary disaster, to which every man is more or less liable, it often becomes a means of support when everything else is gone—cheering with ease and competence the declining years of those who, without its aid, would have been left to all the miseries of poverty and old age. 3. Life is uncertain, while death is certain; and a Savings Bank makes provision only for life. The average length of human life is only thirty-three years. Of 500 persons, only one lives eighty years, and of 100 only six live sixty-five years. Those who can cheat themselves into the belief that they run no risk of dying, will not, of course, insure. No one, however, need consult books to learn lessons of mortality. 'Tis the burthen of pulpit eloquence; the lesson of the graveyard; and the teaching of every day's experience. The uncertainty of life being admitted, it will follow that accumulation upon the Savings Bank principle, does not meet the requirements of the case.

To illustrate: suppose a husband and father, thirty-three years old, wishes to leave his family the sum of $2,000, and for that purpose deposits annually $50 in some Savings institution. In the course of thirty or forty years he will thus accumulate the required sum. But what guarantee has he that he will live ten years, or even one year? He has none, and, of course, no security for provision for his family. But, if he pays $50 as an annual premium for a policy of Life Insurance, he will be sure of leaving $2,000 to his family whenever he dies, in six months or twenty years! Thus, while all other means are fluctuating and uncertain, and riches often "fly away," a Life Insurance policy (if from a reliable company) is certain, and becomes a patrimony JUST AT THE TIME IT IS MOST NEEDED.

The question is no longer, SHALL I GET MY LIFE INSURED? but rather, WHERE CAN I INSURE IT TO THE BEST ADVANTAGE?

In answering this question it will be necessary to explain briefly the DIFFERENT KINDS OF LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

They are all based upon the same fundamental principles, but are divided into classes, according to the different plans of their organization and the different methods of conducting their business. They are either Stock, Mixed, or Mutual Companies.

Joint Stock Companies issue at fixed rates, the profits being wholly divided among the proprietors, and the enormous dividends thence divided have, in some cases, raised the value of the stock to seven hundred per cent. upon the amount paid in.

Mixed Companies are also Joint Stock Companies with proprietary bodies, but the assured are allowed to participate to a certain extent with the proprietors in the profits of the business.

Mutual Companies are owned and managed exclusively by policy-holders, all of whom have their proportionate share in the surplus accruing from the business.

The Mutual Company is clearly the most perfect in principle, and experience has fully tested and placed beyond a doubt the perfect security of the system. No Mutual Company, when once well established, has ever met with disaster on account of the mutual principle; but, on the other hand, they have rapidly accumulated funds, reaching sometimes in amount to millions of dollars. In Mutual Companies, too, the assured have entire control of the funds; there is "universal suffrage," and the form of government is essentially "democratic." A Mutual Company divides the whole surplus among the insured, after deducting only the actual cost to the Company of carrying on the business, which is not the case with the first class mentioned, and only in a degree with the Mixed companies. This plan of operation insures the applicant at the lowest possible premium, for all that is over the sum required to insure him safely, is returned in dividends, which is not the case with the Stock companies, and only partially so with the Mixed companies, the proprietary body in the latter having first to receive its share of the surplus before a dividend can be declared to the insured.

The Governor of Massachusetts has recently vetoed a bill to incorporate a Life Insurance Company, because, among other reasons, it was not a Mutual company. He says: "Purely Mutual Life Insurance Companies have been proved by experience to be the safest and best for the insured."

A PURELY MUTUAL COMPANY IS, THEN, THE ONE IN WHICH TO INSURE TO THE GREATEST ADVANTAGE.

SUPERIORITY OF THE NEW ENGLAND LIFE INS. CO.

It is a purely Mutual Company, and has made three distributions of surplus funds (1848, 1853, and 1858,) in cash, amounting to over $600,000. It now has an invested fund of $2,350,000, to pay losses, and a surplus of $1,050,000; so that it could reinsure for $1,250,000, and divide $1,050,000.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company do not pay their dividends in scrip, but always in CASH. At the close of every five years the Company, after paying the expenses of the business, reserving a sufficient sum to reinsure all risks, and cover all possible contingencies, divides the surplus proportionately among the assured. By this plan, there is no accumulating scrip, or possible liability to guard against, and the rates of premium are materially lessened by the cash dividends, the insured reaping the immediate rather than the prospective advantages of the mutual plan. Some Companies are compelled by their charters to credit their distributions on the policies in the form of a bonus, payable only when a loss takes place, thus creating an immense and unnecessary capital, and depriving the members, in case of non-payment of premium, of all right to the bonus. In this Company, the distributions are a source of pecuniary relief in paying future premiums, and in times of great financial distress, are sensibly felt. In no event does the bonus (if a member choose so to apply his distribution) become forfeited. The cash distribution in 1858 amounted to $335,000.

Its standing and economy are unequaled. The Insurance Commissioners of Massachusetts, in their last report to the Legislature, compare the standing and the economy of the eighteen Life Insurance Companies which issue policies in that State, comprising the principal companies in the country; and they place the New England Company first in standing, i. e. in its ratio of value to liability, and first in economy. This Company's expenses are only 8 per cent. of the receipts, while those of the others average more than 11 per cent. This is the oldest Mutual Company in the country, and, for that reason, must be the safest and most economical.

Its directors are well known to community as men of integrity, sagacity, and experience in business; and every year the affairs of the Company are thoroughly investigated by a body of Commissioners chosen by the State of Massachusetts, for that purpose; and a full and complete statement of the operations of the Company, with its assets and liabilities, is made to the Legislatures of Massachusetts and New York, and a report is made to the assured, of the condition of the Company. Every five years, at the time of declaring the dividends, the business is, as it were, closed, so that its actual position and solvency are made manifest at that time. This guards the assured against any possible loss from inefficiency on the part of the Company, and is a sure guarantee as regards the future.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company has deposited with the Comptroller of the State of New York, $100,000 for the security of its policy-holders in this State.

A company in which so shrewd a financier as the late ABBOTT LAWRENCE, and so profound a lawyer as the late RUFUS CHOATE, insured their lives to the largest possible amount, needs no other voucher for its economy, stability, and perfect security.

TERMS OF PAYMENT.

The terms of payment of the premium in the plan adopted by the New England Life Insurance Company, while ignoring entirely all uncertainty arising from the credit system, are peculiarly advantageous to the assured.

PREMIUM may be paid quarterly, semi-annually, or annually; or one-half of the amount of five premiums may lie over on notes for a term of years, on whole life policies, interest being charged at the rate of six per cent. per annum, on the deferred portions. Premiums for the whole life may also be settled in ten annual payments, or in a single payment.

This is not insuring on credit; for the Company gets pay, from time to time, previously to running the risk—the interest on the note being taken into the account. The notes, or any part of them, will be demandable after five years from the date of the first one, on notice of ninety days, so that the Company may have command of their funds, should the same be necessary; but it is not supposed that such notes will ever need to be paid. There can be hardly a doubt that the principal may remain outstanding so long as the assured wishes.

Five annual life premiums being double the amount of the cash premium required for an insurance for the term of five years, it follows that the policy is adequate collateral security for a loan to the amount of one-half of the life premium. The Company, by this rule, never insures upon the personal credit of any member, its loans being restricted to those policies only which have a pecuniary value. The Company also aids those members who have paid several life premiums in cash, by affording them a credit in times of pecuniary distress, for subsequent premiums, to an amount equal to what would be paid them on surrender of the policy.

In this Company a person cannot forfeit a policy until its value is worked out in insurance. For example, if a person pays four life premiums in cash, this will insure him seven or eight years, or about three years after his four have expired, if he is unable, from any cause, to pay the annual premiums.

Insurance may be effected for one year, a term of years, or for life.

Annexed are the tables of premiums for insurance of $1,000 for one year, for seven years, and for life; also the amount in ten annual premiums, and in one payment.

SURRENDER OF POLICIES.

It sometimes happens that the motive for making insurance, ceases before the policy has expired. Instances will also occasionally occur of persons being disappointed of the means of paying the premium, and so being liable to forfeit their policies. In such case, the Company consents to a surrender of the policy upon fair terms, if application is made for that purpose before it is forfeited.

All over and above the actual cost will be returned of the premiums paid.

Now is the time to effect an insurance! As a man grows older, the rates of premium are higher, and his health is liable to fail. Life is uncertain, and delays are dangerous!

CENTRAL COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

No. 194 MAIN ST., DIRECTLY OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN THEATRE.

Motto.—THE APPLICATION OF KNOWLEDGE TO A PRACTICAL END.

This Institution was established in 1853, by the present Principal, for the express purpose of teaching Book-Keeping in all the departments hereinafter mentioned.

The Hall is 18 by 86 feet, well ventilated, commands a splendid view of the Niagara River, and is in the most central part of our city.

Mr. Hicks being a practical accountant and penman, and having had over 13 years experience, commands better and more extensive facilities than any other school of the kind in Western New York. A Scholarship at this institution will cost $25, good for six years, and will save the holder at least $80 over any other scholarship offered to the public west of N. Y. City.

Every department in commerce taught thorough and complete. The complete Collegiate Course embraces the following:

FORWARDING AND COMMISSION.—Illustrating stock books, commenced by two merchants in single entry, the one selling out, the other continuing the same books in double entry.

MANUFACTURING BOOKS.—Individual and joint stock illustrating the opening, conducting, declaring dividends and the final closing—nine books in the set.

PARTNERSHIP BOOKS.—Ten partners, all sell out but one, changed to stock books. Illustrate banking outside the counter, interest on partners' accounts, domestic joint accounts, (without average,) account sales, proprietor dies, business goes into liquidation, making two dividends, elucidates domestic exchange, administrator appointed, settling with the heirs of the estate, appraisers, litigating accounts, executions, chattel mortgages, leases, deeds, and a final settlement with the Court of Probate.

JOBSING BOOKS.—Elucidates the purchasing from importers, and the selling to retailers, on time, or cash; averaging, balancing, and bringing balance down without equating, equating notes to cover balance of account according to average, finding balance of account before part of the purchases fall due, entering up bills of purchase from store by the proprietors, after the books have been closed, establishing branches of trade, sundry debtors, account, loan account, &c.

COMMISSION, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC.—Explains foreign exchange, sets of exchange, international commerce, re-exchange, agencies, accounts current, joint shipments' advantages, joint consignments, interest on accounts not upon the ledger made to appear in balance account, statement of an agency where accounts are payable by custom, marine insurance, policies, currencies of different nations, brokerage, primage, storage, litherage, annuities, in reversion, in arrears, business correspondence, duties, and the science of Cambistry.

RAILROADING.—Day Book of Construction and Equipment, giving an analysis of articles of association, subscription list, stock scrips, by-laws, book of minutes, instalment list, surveying the route, engineering, grading, computation, book of operating expenditures, book of receipts, headed express, mail, freight and passage, report for the Legislature and State Engineer, vouchers, ticket register, dividends, transfer of stocks, treasurer's bond, mortgage bonds, convertible bonds, funded debts, common debts as affected by the statute of frauds and limitations, coupons, interest warrants (the same form as the Central Railroad uses.) Fifteen books in the set.

BANKING SET.—Desk, counter and other fixtures, furnishing every facility used in actual practice. Students, while in this set, perform the duties of a banker for the other students, who deposit and check, and have deal with the bank, exemplifying collections, collateral securities, exchange, protesting notes, drafts, and sets of exchange, teaching the business of a bank of deposit and issue (twenty-four books to the set, headings printed), checks under varied circumstances, good, not good, certified, negotiability, protest, &c.; bills of exchange, in writing, with ink or pencil, foreign and domestic, protesting, damages after protest, supra protest, the best mode to endorse, bogus drawer, bogus drawee, detention of bill; married women, when responsible, when parties to a bill, either as holder, drawer or drawee; rights and duties of acceptor, of holder, of drawer; notes discounted at the bank, certificates of deposit, collaterals, collections, exchanging money, individual depositors, deposits from the State, from United States, par, currency, difference in deal with depositors, &c., &c. All our practice in book-keeping is from MANUSCRIPT DAY BOOKS. A set of books for a Savings Bank, illustrating all the practical working in this department of commerce.

COMMERCIAL PROBLEMS.—(Some that have not been solved by other teachers of book-keeping,) illustrating the principle involved in buying and selling stocks at a certain rate per cent. on the purchase, allowing for the use of money 7 per cent.; trading stocks that declare different dividends, receiving money at a discount as payment for the balance; adjusting lost time and over time between partners; in short, over three hundred practical business computations.

LECTURES—on the varied duties of an accountant, the nature of accounts, Commercial Law, Business Customs, the laws of health, and the philosophy of mental culture.

PENMANSHIP.—on the ANALYTICAL SYSTEM, originated by William Henry Dean, of N. Y. city, in 1804, in every conceivable style, without the aid of lithographed copies. The Principal holds, that parents laying out money in this direction greatly profit their children, and ornament society. For the benefit of those who are fond of a superficial knowledge in Book-keeping, we give the following receipt for making a Book-keeper, clipped from a Cleveland paper:

"Take a nice young man, a printed book on book-keeping, two telegraph machines, a galvanic pot, and a practical department, $40 in cash, six weeks time, one diploma, more properly called clarity, two school-teachers, that never opened nor closed a ledger in their lives, and one dozen semi-angular copies."

This receipt has been strongly recommended, but not by those who we call practical judges.

BUFFALO ENVELOPE MANUFACTORY

The attention of the trade is directed to this new branch of Buffalo Manufactures. Having entirely new Machines of very recent invention, capable of turning out double the amount of work per machine over any now in use, and having the advantage of procuring paper at the lowest manufacturing rates, our facilities for the manufacture of Envelopes are such as to enable us to defy competition.

We propose to manufacture and keep on hand all the leading styles of Envelopes, of all grades and shades.

We invite a careful comparison of both goods and prices with those of Eastern manufacture, and feel confident we can make it an object to dealers to purchase our goods. Samples and price list will be sent on application.

Length, 3 ft. 4½ in.	Height, 2 ft. 9 in.	Width, 1 ft. 10 in.

This instrument is designed expressly for public and private SCHOOLS, PUBLIC HALLS, and small CHURCHES.

After having finished and sold over 30,000 MELODEONS, of our usual varieties, we found that something different was needed to meet the wants of Schools, Small Churches and Public Halls.

We think that we have succeeded in producing an instrument which is unrivaled in TONE, BRILLIANCE, DURABILITY and (last, though not least,) CHEAPNESS. It has nearly double the volume of tone of our $150 Double Reed Melodeon, and this is produced by the greater capacity of BELLOWS and SOUNDING BOARD, in connection with a positive method of voicing the reeds.

The GRADUATED SWELL and DIVIDED SWELL are attached to this instrument, and we think the effect is superior to anything we have produced before. The advantages we claim for this instrument are—

1st. It has more compass than any other double reed instrument ever offered at the same price, the smaller being full four and a half octaves, which is the usual compass of the key boards of the largest organ; and the larger full five octaves.

2d. It has more volume of tone than any reed instrument ever offered to the public at double the price.

3d. It has two stops, by means of which the tone can be modulated to suit all occasions.

4th. It has the "DIVIDED SWELL," which is only to be found in Melodeons of our manufacture.

5th. It has the "GRADUATED SWELL," which is admitted to be the most desirable improvement ever added to Melodeons, and which is patented by us, and used exclusively in our instruments.

6th. It has the "IMPROVED VALVE," (or pallet,) being a combination of cloth and leather, insuring the durability of the instrument, and long needed as a substitute for the "India rubber valve," which has caused so much trouble by the dissolving and sticking of the rubber.

7th. It has the "BASSO TENUTO" or Sub Bass, for full description of which, see next page.

Finally, It exactly meets the wants of those for whom it was intended.

A MUSICAL NOVELTY.

The Basso Tenuto, or Sub Bass.

PATENTED JUNE 24, 1862.

GEORGE A. PRINCE & CO.

Respectfully announce that they have now perfected and ready to offer to the musical world, a new and important invention, as an attachment to their celebrated Melodeons, which needs only to be seen and heard to be appreciated. The new attachment is styled "THE BASSO TENUTO," and is intended as a substitute for the PEDAL BASS. It is the invention of Mr. Lafayette Louis, an accomplished Musician, who has, for a valuable consideration, assigned the entire right, title and interest in the same to the undersigned. A patent has been granted us, and hereafter all our Melodeons of five or more octaves, will be furnished with this attachment without extra charge. This most novel and desirable improvement will be found only in our Melodeons, as we shall sell no rights to other manufacturers.

The newly invented "BASSO TENUTO" will, from its extreme simplicity, commend itself to all lovers of the Melodeon, as it forms a complete substitute for the "Sub Bass," without the use of the foot pedals.

By drawing a stop, a very simple device is brought in connection with the under side of the lower octave of the key board, (entirely out of sight,) and while this stop remains drawn, any key in the lower octave being pressed, remains down, and the note continues to sound until another key in the same octave is struck, when the first is relieved, and the second sounds in its turn, thus enabling the performer to retain or continue at will any bass note, without the use of foot pedals, while both hands are left free to be occupied upon the upper part of the key board, thus getting double the quantity of tone, and producing effects like the Church Organ. When the "Sub Bass" is not wanted the stop is pushed in, and the keys are relieved from its influence.

The Pedal Bass, as heretofore made by us with foot pedals, will still be attached to our large Organ Melodeons.

PRINCE & CO.'S GRADUATED SWELL.

PATENTED SEPT. 17, 1861.

This is an entirely new idea, and its want has been noticed by all acquainted with reed instruments. The old swell could never be made to operate gradually; the instant the pedal was touched for opening it, the change would be instantaneous and abrupt.

Our New Swell is constructed on Scientific Principles.

And we are satisfied, by our untiring study and experiment, that it is the only one by which the tone of reed instruments may be graduated from a mere whisper to the full power of the instrument, and vice versa. The volume of tone is also very much increased by this swell, and is now all that we could desire.  No other Melodeon has this improvement.

This, in connection with our "DIVIDED SWELL," (which we patented in 1855,) will be added to all the Melodeons which we now manufacture without extra charge. Persons unacquainted with the Melodeon and its history will bear in mind that we are the pioneers and leading manufacturers, not only in the United States, but in the world.

We commenced the manufacture of Melodeons in the fall of 1847, and since that time have finished and sold over THIRTY THOUSAND.

These instruments are now in use mostly in the United States and Canada; but also in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, and the West Indies; and from all quarters we have the most flattering testimonials of the high estimation in which they are held.

At all Industrial Exhibitions they have invariably been awarded the highest premium whenever exhibited in competition with others.

All Melodeons of our manufacture, either sold by us or dealers in any part of the United States or Canadas, are warranted to be perfect in every respect, and should any repairs be necessary before the expiration of FIVE YEARS from date of sale, we hold ourselves ready and willing to make such repairs free of charge, provided the injury is not caused by accident or design.
